

SpencerFane®

A.J. Ferate Gives Insight on Land Use Case

Spencer Fane A.J. Ferate was recently featured on The Federalist Society's teleforum covering environmental law and property rights.

A.J. was joined by Associate Professor at the University of Notre Dame Law School Stephanie Barclay for a discussion analyzing Apache Stronghold v. United States, including recent updates and legal implications of this case.

At Spencer Fane, A.J. focuses his practice in multiple areas of the law, policy, energy, campaigns, elections, and defense. A.J. has assisted elected officials in service to their constituents in all branches of government and has held responsibilities over government efforts outside of the legislative branch on matters, including tribal law, land matters, water, electric generation, commodity marketing, and seismicity.

To learn more about A.J., please click here.